

Co-creating with the Angels: Starting a Healing Center in Sedona, AZ

I've worked with angels all my life, even when I didn't realize I was working with them. So when angels began appearing to me regarding a 'special project', I wasn't surprised. The first angel was Archangel Raphael who told me I needed to get a large statue representing him/her (angels are androgenous, but we tend to assign gender to make it easier to identify them). This statue would help us to co-create our life work.

Next, I began receiving visions of a healing center here in Sedona. Very specific information came in regarding the type of healing center. Unlike a psychic center, this healing center is where healers come to heal themselves, and then stay to facilitate healing in others. A higher self-driven center, where all who are within the walls either as a facilitator, teacher, or client are acting in accordance with their higher selves. Filled with spiritual integrity, and drawing in like minded people who want to shift, heal, change, transform their lives and are willing to provide a fair energy exchange for this process. This is a center about teaching, healing, and serving others. The angels told me this was where we would provide free 5 minute empowerment, an abbreviated version of Integrated Energy Therapy® to give people a taste of healing. Integrated Energy Therapy® is the healing with the angels, and the next step beyond Reiki. ®

The angels also told me more specific information about the other services we were to provide.

I wrote all this down and shared it with my partner, Leon, who was as excited as I was.

The next thing I knew I was being contacted by 6 different people who said they felt compelled to connect at that time because we would be working together in some way in the near future. I was blown away by that as I hadn't shared anything about my vision with anyone. Clearly the angels were in charge of this project and bringing in the right people at the right time.

We asked the angels to bring us the right place. One that wasn't too expensive, with enough room, and the best location.. After a very frustrating afternoon looking at wrong places, I finally said, "Look angels. If you want us to co-create this, then you need to bring us the place right now. Make it so obvious we can't mistake it."

That's when 3 different people in 1 day spoke about the same place for lease in West Sedona! Who would have thought? We took 1 look at the place and felt that it was right. It was already set up for a small retail space plus 3 treatment rooms and a large closet-like area that could be used for the aura camera. All it lacked was the classroom. That's when the owner said casually, "You know, on the other side of this closet is a large storage room. I'd be happy to clean it out if you would want to rent that also." We looked at it and found it was the right size for a small classroom. Now we had everything we needed to get started.

We spent the first month painting the walls and preparing the space with gold paint and high vibrational elements.

As we needed furniture or equipment, the angels would bring us exactly what we needed.

We had our open house in October, 2006. It was a smashing success.

Three months after we opened, the angels told me in meditation that we would be expanding to the space next door to us. We would use it as a large classroom space, they said. I laughed and said, "Oh sure. Rhonda is next door. She's not going anywhere!" Two hours later, one of the independent contractors walked in and said, "Hey, did you hear that Rhonda gave notice next door? She's moving out!" I shook my head, and said, "I don't think I'm ready for this." The angels had other ideas, of course, and at our next workshop, we had so many people, we were overcrowded in our 'small' classroom. Okay, we got it! One month later, we took possession of the 'large' classroom space.

It was at that time, we realized what we were becoming. The spirit of the center shared with us that we were developing into a spiritual healing retreat center. Not only did we have workshop space available for incoming groups, but we also have the supportive services for out of town groups. We are able to offer vortex tours, sacred ceremonies, yoga, massage, angel healings, angel readings, aura photos, and more! All customized for individuals and groups.

Also we quickly realized we were the only center in town offering Integrated Energy Therapy®, healing with the energy of the angels, and the next level beyond Reiki®. Not only do we provide sessions in IET®, but we train people to give sessions. We provide 3 levels of training for people plus IET® for Pets. Word was beginning to spread about the power of this therapy and its ability to get the 'issues out of the tissues' without having to relive trauma.

People ask us how do you keep the energy of your center so high and clear?

Intention. It is our intention to provide a center that is for everyone's highest good and healing. That's quite a statement. But when we work with the angels, they laugh and say, "Don't worry. We're just keeping you busy so we can do all the work!" and they do. Through Integrated Energy Therapy®, the angels channel energy through us and take away anything that needs to be transmuted. That means we never take on other people's stuff. We couldn't if we wanted to. And we don't. That also means other people's stuff is not left lying around on the floor or in the walls.

Also through I.E.T.®, we have utilized an advanced technique called a HeartBeam. This is a permanent beam of love and light that provides a mini-clearing to people's resistance of their soul's purpose. We have heartbeams in various places in our center. These beams of love and light are strengthened by any being entering them, and in turn, keep building in vibration and frequency.

What's next for Your HeartWalk Center?

So okay, I think I'm through dragging my feet on this one. We are in the process of co-creating a non-profit organization, the purposes of which are a) to educate the public about non-traditional forms of healing that work, b) to provide on-going research and educational opportunities with the non-traditional forms of healing and their effectiveness.

Oh, and Archangel Raphael? He's in our center, guarding the small classroom. He assures me there will be at least 2 other centers in the world before we feel complete.....

I don't think I'm ready for this.

Phoenix

Phoenix and her partner Leon are Co-Directors of Your HeartWalk Center in Sedona, AZ. For more information on their services, IET or Angels, please visit their website at: www.sedonaheartwalk.com: