THE MULTIWAVE OSCILLATOR

Medical Application of Multi-Wave Frequency Generators

OR

Magnetic Wave Therapy

By

Ralph Bergstresser (in 1964)

The use of “high frequency voltage at very low amperage” on living organisms such as plants, animals and human beings has been a subject of medical interest for more than 40 years (now more than 90 years). In experimenting with very high voltage and Tesla coils, proper application to the physical body would rapidly relieve pain from all types of body injury in a matter of a few minutes. It was also found that infection and wounds would heal very quickly. These high voltages could not be applied directly to the body. The energy must be carried through a gaseous tube utilizing argon or neon gas. The molecules of gas are put into a high state of agitation and carry the high frequency voltage to the point on the body where physical contact is made, without pain or too much sensation. There is no other way that the body can tolerate such high voltages.

Hundreds of these units are in use in this country and in foreign countries so that thousands of people have already benefited from its development. However, there has never been any scientific medical evaluation in the USA due to the present status of the medical monopoly and their control over all medical developments. On the other hand, anyone that develops anything worthwhile for relieving human misery and suffering is persecuted. The writer went through these experiences, both on a Federal and State level, and every attempt was made to put me into a prison for developing this equipment that might well be considered “The Miracle of the New Age”. The original equipment and basic idea for Magnetic Wave Therapy came through a Russian scientist by the name of George Lakhovsky who did his work in Paris in the mid 1920’s. He evolved the theory that in all living cells the genes and chromosomes are always in motion and they operate like tiny radio receivers and transmitters. They all have a resonant frequency due to their size, shape, form, and capacity. When cells are exposed to a wide spectrum of electromagnetic waves on the lower end of the “magnetic spectrum”, or the broadcast band, cells absorb energy at their resonant frequency when exposed to such energy, provided the strength of these magnetic waves is not too strong nor weak. After a period of about 15 to 20 minutes, the cells will not absorb any more energy. If exposed to these magnetic waves, the energy is just thrown off and not used or accepted by the cells. The energy from these machines cannot damage or destroy a living cell either in a plant, animal or human. Years of testing and research work have been conducted in radiating tropical fish that are extremely delicate as well as rats and mice. In radiating a pregnant rat or newborn rats for hours at much higher levels of radiation than are currently possible in these machines, not a single instance was ever observed where damage had been caused from these magnetic waves.

George Lakhovsky's equipment was used very successfully throughout Europe in the 1920's and 1930's in England, Germany, France and Italy. However, the equipment was bulky and heavy and very costly and practical only in hospitals. The present 18 pound unit is far superior to the original equipment as not much was known about such matters that long ago. There was no way in those days of even measuring these frequencies and tests conducted in recent years indicated that the equipment of those days could be hazardous if used too long at a time or used too often. There is no such problem with this equipment.

In the early part of the 1900's from the time high frequency voltage was first invented by Dr. Nikola Tesla in the 1890's the use of electrical equipment, magnetic waves, high frequency energies, diathermy, etc., flourished. After the mid 1920's, the pharmaceutical and medical trust outlawed most of the electrical equipment. They found the chemical and pharmaceutical approach to be far more profitable. If a patient can be cured in a relatively short time with electrical modalities, the profit is taken out of medicine as the patients get well too fast. I have been digging into these matters for years. I am convinced that the above statement is a fact. I have even had personal experiences along these lines. For example, some doctors that own my equipment also have Diapulse. In the beginning, they are very excited with the fast and marvelous results obtained by use of Magnetic Wave Therapy and use it in preference to Diapulse. But after a short time, they go back to Diapulse and use my equipment only in special instances. Some of them that I know quite well admitted to me that Magnetic Wave Therapy is too efficient and many times will cure that patient in a single treatment. When this happens, they have lost a patient and also some "income".

The electrical and much of the chemical aspects of the human body functions have been bypassed or overlooked during the past 50 years of medicine. Very little is taught on these subjects in medical schools even today.

Healing is apparently an electrochemical phenomenon- still little understood. Magnetic Wave Therapy greatly speeds up healing processes within the human body. If this development were used only in post-operative recovery, the time requirement for recovery from major surgery might conceivably be cut by 50%. This, in itself, would make the equipment very worthwhile in every hospital.

Relief of Pain with the Emitter Tube

The transmission of electrical discharges through the body by use of the Emitter Tube appears to have an analgesic effect as it relieves pain and enhances healing. It has a very powerful bactericidal effect, but further evaluation is required to determine the various types of bacteria that are destroyed by use of the Emitter Tube energy. When the Emitter

Tube is placed upon a specific area of the body, due to the characteristic and quality of the high voltage in direct contact with the skin, a considerable amount of ozone is produced. By placing the Emitter Tube up and around the nostrils, ozone is easily distinguished, and we know that it is a very powerful disinfectant. The body largely composed of water literally becomes an ozone generator in the area where the Emitter Tube is placed. So the production of ozone may be the cause of the germicidal effect of the Emitter Tube in killing bacteria.

Unlike Diapulse, the energy released from the Magnetic Wave unit is transmitted to every cell of the body regardless of the area being treated. Penetration is through the entire body, not just a few inches in depth or on the surface of the skin. This is due to the quality and characteristic of the energy that is generated in the Magnetic Wave unit and is transmitted either through the "Antenna" or "Emitter Tube".

When channeled through the Antenna, the energy becomes a vast spectrum of "electromagnetic waves", released at very short time intervals measured in microseconds and milliseconds. When used through the Emitter Tube, the energy becomes a direct corona discharge into the body so that billions of electrons are released to stimulate circulation, kill infection and pain and to speed up healing.

Electricity may be used in many different ways just as there are many different types of chemicals for medical purposes. Some are very dangerous and harmful while others are beneficial to healing and to health. Electrical energy can destroy or heal depending on many factors (little understood today) such as strength of current, frequency response, time interval of impulses, method of application, etc.

By placing the Emitter Tube upon an infected or painful area, relief usually occurs within a few minutes. The energy from the Emitter Tube bombards the cells with billions of electrons that apparently relieve nerve blockages, stimulates circulation, kills bacteria and infections, and speeds up metabolism, cellular activity and healing. I call the Emitter Tube "Modern Electronic Acupuncture".

The Emitter Tube may be safely used directly upon the eyes (adjusted to lower strength output) for two to four minutes on each eye. There have been many instances of eyesight improvement, particularly when there are conditions of infection. Improved eyesight has been reported by some users, but this area requires further investigation and evaluation. Many have reported relief from sinus infection, catarrh, throat, and nose infection. A combination of the Antenna and the Emitter Tube appear to give quick results, or the Emitter Tube alone may do the job. The Emitter Tube is used on the throat, on the nose and cheek and across the forehead for about 10 minutes with the energy cut down so that no discomfort is felt. When touching the Emitter Tube to the head, the finger is held on the Emitter Tube until close contact with the Emitter Tube and the skin are made. The finger is then released from the glass tube allowing all of the energy to travel into the area being treated. When the Emitter Tube is removed, the finger may again be placed upon the glass tube before removal. This eliminates the feeling of a spark or shock when some people are sensitive to this and find it upsetting. However, most people find this to be no problem at all after they have used the unit a time or two. It is best to explain to people how to use the Emitter Tube, and then allow them to do it or use it on themselves.

Aches and Pains and Infection

The Emitter Tube may be used to relieve all types of pain such as caused by arthritis, body injury, sprains, broken bones and sores in any area of the body. The Antenna is usually used in combination with the Emitter Tube – time divided about 50/50. The Emitter Tube may be used on an area until the pain is gone, depending upon the situation. There is no danger from using either the Antenna or the Emitter Tube too long except in instances where the person is highly toxic (such as a heart or a cancer patient).

Heart Attacks

The Emitter Tube has been used to literally restore life to patients suffering from fatal heart attacks. I see the day when this equipment could be used in receiving departments of hospitals and in ambulances for emergency use. I believe that it could be as important as oxygen equipment for critical cases. The stimulation by this electrical energy apparently reinforces the body's electrical potentials giving new energy and life stimulation to the patient, increasing metabolic action and the electrical impulses to the heart. These areas should be thoroughly evaluated and investigated. No electrodes are required with this equipment. There is NO NEED FOR ELECTRODES as the energy will pass and travel into the body wherever contact is made. The gas in the Emitter Tube acts as a carrier of the high voltage and takes the bite or sting off of the energy so that it may be used in a safe and practical manner without any feeling of discomfort. Not any electrical energy or current will work this way. If the quality, frequency, amount of current and other factors are not in proper proportion, damage could result to the cells and nerves of the body producing adverse effects rather than healing effects. Many years of research have evolved this equipment to the present stage and these energies have been used on seeds, plants, animals, fish and humans.

Prostate Gland Problems

A great many prostate cases have been fully cured with this equipment. The combination of the Emitter Tube and the Antenna is used. The Antenna alone is not enough to do the job, but in combination with the Emitter Tube very good results appear to have been obtained. The Emitter Tube is placed directly upon the prostate gland (below the scrotum) for 15 to 20 minutes, once or twice daily. Pain is relieved and swelling reduced and the infection is usually burned out.

Paralysis

Numerous instances of relief from various types of paralysis in the arms and legs have reported utilizing the combination of the Antenna and the Emitter Tube.

One woman had been in a car accident. She had no feeling in her fingers and being a secretary (typist) she could not hold a job for five years. She used this equipment every other day for a month. The paralysis and numbness left her fingers and hands and she was able to go back to work and earn a living for herself and two children. She was permanently cured, as that was over five years ago (at the time of this writing).

Constant Pain in Hip Relieved (Emitter Tube and Antenna)

Many cases have been reported on relief of arthritis, bursitis and various types of muscular ailments. Again, the best results appear to be obtained when using both the Emitter Tube and the Antenna in combination.

Liver Functions

Medical science has established the vital importance of the liver functions in human health. Early in the beginning of the development of this equipment, a Beverly Hills doctor soon discovered that the machine does very beneficial things for the liver, an organ that is difficult to reach and to treat. Much more evaluation is required in this area, but there are very good indications that Magnetic Wave Therapy will do wonderful things in restoration of the normal liver functions. The combination of the Antenna and the Emitter Tube appears to be the most effective approach.

Sprained Ankles, Arms, Wrists, Back and Legs

There are a great many reports as to the effectiveness of this equipment on the above problems. In the early beginning, a middle-aged woman had a swollen foot and ankle for two months caused by a fall. Every type of treatment had been used but to no avail. She had to wear a soft slipper due to the swollen condition of the ankle. The Antenna was used on the foot area (before the Emitter Tube was added) for about 15 minutes. The next day, her foot was back to normal and she had no pain or swelling and could wear her regular shoe again. She called to give this information.

Gangrene and Infection

I consider cancer “cellular gangrene” in many instances. I believe that there is a cancer virus in all human bodies and when the level of toxicity becomes too great in a particular organ, these viruses can upset the memory (computer) of cells (DNA, etc.) in the genes and chromosomes. I do not believe that a detoxified body can ever get cancer.

Accumulation of nitrogen in the cells apparently causes one form of toxicity. The Magnetic Wave unit appears to release these accumulations of nitrogen and they are quickly carried away through the body fluids. On heart or cancer patients, care must be used not to release this accumulated nitrogen too rapidly or the lymphatic system can become overloaded causing a swelling of the lymph glands. Only 5 minutes of time with the Antenna is recommended for this type of patient, and then gradually the time can be increased after several treatments to a maximum of 15 to 20 minutes. These magnetic waves are much more powerful than they appear to be. In fact, this small 18-pound unit is sufficiently powerful to treat a large animal such as a horse. The Emitter Tube is different and it may be used for anywhere from 10 to 30 minutes. Although the high voltage operating both the Emitter tube and the Antenna comes from the same source, the effects are entirely different on each. The Emitter Tube may be used daily or even several times a day. The cells require a rest period between treatments with the Antenna so as to allow the cells to recover from the magnetic wave shock and to allow the nitrogen to be released along with the toxic poisons. That is why every other day appears to give better results when using the Antenna.

Legs and feet that are badly ulcerated and recommended for amputation have been successfully saved with this equipment when nothing else known to medical science would work. Magnetic Wave Therapy can well become the “Miracle of the New Age”.

Ear, Eye, Nose and Throat

A great many people have received benefit and complete relief from sinus problems when all other methods have failed over a period of many years. Migraine headaches, throat and ear infection have responded in most instances. One woman living in the Virgin Islands flew to Miami for a cataract operation on both eyes. She met someone with a Magnetic Wave unit and delayed her operation to take two treatments on her eyes.

The doctors were astonished that her condition changed so drastically that she did not require the operation. She called me and told me this story and purchased one of my machines.

Metabolism

I learned firsthand how well this equipment works and what marvelous things it can do. Eight years ago, I had very low metabolism (minus 42). I had been on thyroid tablets for 10 years – 4 grains daily, and I couldn't miss a day. Otherwise, I was about to collapse in mid-afternoon due to low energy.

After I built the first machine to use on myself, within two weeks, I was off of the thyroid tablets permanently. I have never taken a single tablet since 1964. Friends wanted to try out this equipment and many of them received such wonderful benefits that they wanted me to build them a unit. So, I soon found myself in business. Word of this equipment traveled by “word of mouth” and within 12 months, I had a worldwide business. I required payment in advance on all orders which were custom built. I shipped by air to any point in the world.

Asthma and Lung Problems

Asthma and lung problems have also been addressed and helped by Magnetic Wave Therapy, but much more evaluation is required.
